SIX RECEIVE ROTC SCHOLARSHIPS

MISSOULA--

Recipients of two-year and three-year ROTC scholarships at the University of Montana have been announced by Maj. Henry S. Matlosz, UM associate professor of military science.

Three of the scholarships were awarded to men who attended the Army ROTC Basic Camp at Fort Knox, Ky., this summer. The intensive six-week training camp qualifies participants to enroll in advanced officer training without taking the first two years of the ROTC program. Camp students may apply for full-tuition scholarships, which pay for books and fees and provide a tax-free stipend of $100 a month.

The UM recipients are Jack C. Crazy Boy, son of Jack Crazy Boy, Brockett, Alta.; Arthur B. Keen, son of Darla Keen, Hamilton; and Timothy L. Smith, son of Milton Smith, Coram.

Students who hold three-year ROTC scholarships are Laura T. Donahue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Donahue, Missoula; Ronald W. Martino Jr., son of Ronald W. Martino, Marysville, Ohio; and Glenn R. Ross, son of Norma Merritt, Hot Springs.
